Education

Colorado State University, Ph.D. in Applied Developmental Science

Expected 2023

Colorado State University, M.S. in Prevention Science

Expected 2020

Colorado State University, B.S. in Human Development and Family Studies

2018

University Honors Scholar & Summa Cum Laude distinction

Research Experience

Mindfulness and Family Resilience Laboratory, Lab Manager

2016 - Present

Director & Principal Investigator: J. Douglas Coatsworth, Ph.D.

Project administration; data collection using complex physiological and observational equipment; data analysis via dynamic systems-based methods and modeling; technical and scientific writing; R programming; recruitment, training, mentorship, and management of 10+ undergraduate research assistants

Current Studies

- 1. Mindful Parent Observational Study (MPOS): Code and analyze behavioral and affective indicators in structured parent-youth interactions as part of randomized controlled trial of the Mindfulness-enhanced Strengthening Families Program (MSFP)
- 2. Project Mind-Heart (PMH): Investigate effects of parental mindfulness induction on individual and dyadic patterns of physiological, affective, and behavioral indicators during challenging parent-child interactions

Child Trauma and Resilience Assessment Center, Intern

Fall 2017

Director: Stephanie Seng, M.S.

Administrative and research support for SAMHSA-funded projects (PI: Lise Youngblade, Ph.D.) focused on state-wide trauma-informed training, development of adult trauma assessment, and trauma assessment provision for high-risk adolescents

Parenting Young Children Project (NIH Ko1), Project Manager

2015 - 2018

Principal Investigator: Erika S. Lunkenheimer, Ph.D.

Project management, grant administration, participant recruitment and retention, technical and scientific writing, and data collection and analysis using dynamic systems-based methods and modeling for NIH-funded longitudinal study investigating parents' and young children's (2.5 to 4 years old) dyadic coordination of emotions, goal-oriented behaviors, and physiology and associated risk of child maltreatment

Cognitive Neuroimaging Laboratory, Honors Undergraduate Research Scholar 202

2014 - 2015

Director & Principal Investigator: Carol A. Seger, Ph.D.

Data collection (within undergraduate psychology research pool) and subsequent data processing for disseration research concerning learning and memory
